About

I'm a 2nd-year B.Tech CSIT student at REVA University, building a strong foundation in software development and data-focused technologies. I'm currently developing my skills in Python, C++, SQL, Data Analytics, and Data Structures & Algorithms through hands-on projects and coding practice. I enjoy building practical technology projects and participating in hackathons to apply what I learn to real-world problems. I'm looking for internship opportunities, project collaborations, and opportunities to learn from experienced professionals in software and data-related roles.
